

2 CHILDREN SHOT IN LONG CHASE OF BANDITS IN AUTO

Police Keep Up Running Fire
With Five After $3,000
Hold-Up in Store.

"The Battle of 112th Street," the youngsters of East Harlem call the uproar of revolvers, fired between speeding automobiles carrying escaping robbers and pursuing policemen along Second Avenue and through 112th Street to Third Avenue at dusk last evening. John Marino, twelve, of No. 245 East 112th Street, and Mary Forestein, six, of No. 15 East 112th Street, both of whom were slightly injured by stray bullets. John Battaglio, of No. 139 Cherry Street; Harry La Forte, of No. 115 Monroe Street and Salvatore di Carlo, of No. 136 Second Avenue, captured by the police, are in Harlem Hospital suffering from abrasions, contusions, and lacerations.

Four men alighted from an automobile, entered the store of the Almedo Ferro China Company at No. 1901 Lexington Avenue last evening. They sought the proprietor, William Marino. One thrust a gun against his waistcoat. Another took $225 in money from his pockets and a $1,125 diamond ring from his finger. The other two took from Joseph Macaniti a watch and chain and $60 in cash.

Hottel Agallo, of No. 128 President Street, Brooklyn, a friend of Marino, was leaving his big limousine behind the thieves' car at the curb in charge of Robert Armstrong, his negro chauffeur. Seeing Marino and the clerk with their hands up, facing the wall, Agallo drew a Smith automatic pistol, which he was licensed to carry. It was wrested from him and put against his chest. The robbers took $67 from his trousers pocket, overloading $800 in his waistcoat. They also took his watch and chain and a diamond ring worth $1,100; the ring was tight on his finger and one of the men used his teeth in pulling it away.

As the robber car turned into 112th Street, two men jumped out and ran into a tenement. The two remaining passengers leaned out of the side windows and began a rapid firing at policemen following in Agallo's car. Sullivan and Jennings at once returned the fire, calling to Armstrong to "step on it and close up."

Twelve shots came from the robbers, and the policemen fired nine in the space of half a block when more firing began at Third Avenue, coming from Policemen Dooley and Murphy, who ran out from the sidewalk and fired directly into the thieves' car. It stopped. Battaglio, La Forte and Di Carlo stepped out to the street with their hands very high in the air, but no chance were taken on their reasoning their resistance.

Agallo's automatic and another pistol were found empty on the floor of the captured car. Some of Agallo's jewelry and that of Macaniti were found in the pockets of the prisoners. The wounded children, one shot in the arm and the other through the shoulder, were found near Second Avenue.

Stolen Former Sweetheart to Court.

Charging that her former sweetheart, Frederick Wild, thirty, of No. 165 East 27th Street, had pursued her with urgings that she leave her husband to elope with him and that he had struck her when she refused, Mrs. Elizabeth Lange, twenty-six, of No. 417 East 12th Street, appeared to-day in Yorkville Court. Wild was placed under $500 bonds to keep the peace for a year.
